About Your Participation

We're excited to invite your school to take part in this creative, nature-based journaling program.

By completing this form, you're letting us know that your school is interested in being involved and is requesting us to reserve your place in our program. There's no formal commitment required—just a shared intention to explore the opportunity together.

If your school joins the program, we hope to:

- Share a love of nature and creativity with students
- Encourage participation in a way that suits your school
- Keep communication open and flexible
- Work together in a positive and supportive way
